Willard Won From Morris, but There's Little Glory for the Cow-Puncher in the Victory.

Copyright, 1913, by The Press Publishing Co. (The New York World.)

THE world's two biggest and heaviest "hoppers" skidded down the toboggan slide last night. As possible, head-to-head champions, Jess Willard and Carl Morris are no longer with us.

It's a pity in Willard's case, too. Here's a fellow with every physical quality that might go into the makeup of a genuine world beater, and hardly enough fighting spirit to outfit a self-respecting sparrow.

The "battle of the mandolins" turned out to be a tame affair after all. It went ten rounds. There wasn't a near-knockdown in it. Willard won through harder and more accurate hitting, but little glory goes with the winning. There was more real sport in the ten rounds of the semi-final bout than in the whole ten rounds of the final.

Morris weighed (according to the figures furnished Joe Humphries by the official inspectors of the boxing commission) 234-1/4 pounds stripped. Willard scaled 235-1/4 in his turn. They looked perfectly matched as they stepped up at the beginning of the first round. But they weren't matched. Willard's strength, speed, terrific hitting power, skill, and nothing else. Morris had strength and courage, and nothing else.

In the first round neither did anything. From the second on Willard occasionally landed terrific straight rights and right uppercuts that shook Morris and made him reel for a second, then drive in for a clinch or a chance to get it at close quarters. Once a right uppercut jarred Morris so that his knees bent and it looked as if he'd sit down. But he straightened right up and went into a clinch every time. Willard's close enough Morris plucked away at Willard's body. The blows were just heavy drives, without the snap at the finish that adds effectiveness. But Morris's punches landed with a snap and a jar, and he was always on top of Willard. Willard clinched and held on in spite of Referee John's pleadings for a "break."

There was all the difference in the world between Carl's awkward gawing and mauling and scattered straight punches and the blows landed by the cowpuncher. Willard had everything. He shot right and left over like a lightning stroke. He was accurate, except with the uppercuts, which Morris usually avoided. His punches landed with a snap and a jar, and he was always on top of Willard. Willard clinched and held on in spite of Referee John's pleadings for a "break."

Tinker at Shortstop for Pirates Is Latest Thing In Winter Ball Gossip

And Joe Admits He's Going to Talk It Over With Manager Fred Clarke—Magnates Will Be With Us Next Week.

By Bozeman Bulger.

THE regular run of things it becomes our duty this morning to fix up and rearrange the Pittsburgh infield. To do this we must have Joe Tinker, provided, of course, that he can get away from all the other clubs that have signed him during the week. From Kansas City Joe admits he's going to talk to Fred Clarke about it, and in the winter time that is enough grounds for anybody to begin the task of recruiting the Pirates. It's the simplest thing in the world.

Do you remember how, for three years, we have been placing the blame on first base? Well, now is the time. Tinker, you see, would have to play shortstop, and unless Honus was to retire again we've simply got to play him at first base. There is no use consulting Fred Clarke about it, because there is nothing else he can do. As to the members of the old staff, the Pirates haven't quite made up their minds. Manager Clarke is reported as having offered Dolan for sale, and, as he has already disposed of Bobby Byrne, it's really a matter of time before he will have to be taken off first base to make room for Honus, so why not try him on the other corner of the diamond? Voss is simply able to take care of the second base.

But to get Tinker away from the Reds the Pirates will have to give something in return. Don't forget that. It shouldn't really make much difference what they give, as Garry Herrmann and Barney Dreyfuss join that "society for the prevention of useless giving." And we all know that most anything that is given to the Reds is useless. The only ones who give away presents of value.

In the mean time the magnates are doing all in their power to prevent a deal coming off before the gathering next week. Otherwise they would meet and adjourn without having had a chance to look mysterious or without the game having had anything to talk about. So you will have to wait until that time before getting the dope officially.

Notes of the Golfers

Match for Homebreds and "Pros" to Be Added Feature for National Open Tournament.

It is planned to hold an extra event at the next national open golf championship in the shape of a team match to be run off previous to the regular tournament. It has been suggested that a team of ten homebreds meet a team of ten professionals residing in America, but not native born. The match will be a three-cornered contest would be arranged.

Naturally the three most prominent homebreds would be selected first, John J. McDermott of Atlantic City, twice the open title holder; Thomas L. McNamara of Boston, former metropolitan champion, and Michael J. Brady of Wollaston.

Then there is a wealth of other material to draw from, with Jack Dowling of Scarsdale, Walter Hagin, Walter Foyvargue, George Bowdon of Teaneck, Elmer W. Loving of Arcola, Jack Hagan of Salisbury, Otto Hochbach, Jack Croke of Calumet and Joe Sylvester of Van Cortlandt Park.

The Austrian people are evidently taking an increased interest in things athletic, as is evidenced by the fact that W. D. ("Bill") Kilgour, the well-known professional at the Manhattan Golf Club, Pelham Bay Park, has been engaged to lay out an eighteen-hole course near Prague, in the heart of Bohemia, Austria. He sails on Saturday.

Cross Remains on Coast; To Fight New Year's Day

Battling Dentist Accepts Offer to Box Winner of Barrieau-Anderson Bout Next Week—Leach Received More Than Rivers.

By John Pollock.

LEACH CROSS, who was beaten by Joe Rivers at Vernon, Cal., on Thanksgiving Day afternoon, will engage in another fight in California before he returns to this city. Leach had intended to start back home the day after his defeat, but Tom McCarry told him to wait around a few days, with the result that he has signed him up to meet the winner of the Barrieau-Anderson fight for twenty rounds on New Year's afternoon. Barrieau and Anderson battle next Tuesday night. Although Leach lost to Rivers, he received more money than the Mexican, as he drew down $5,000 while Rivers got $4,000.

Abe Attell, who is matched to meet Johnny Kilbane for the featherweight championship title in San Francisco on Washington's Birthday afternoon, told the writer to-day in order to get the fight with Kilbane he had to guarantee the latter $10,000 with the privilege of accepting 20 per cent. of the gross receipts. Attell says he will leave for "Prisco" about Dec. 21.

Although Jess Willard and Carl Morris put up a magnificent show at the Garden last night, they got a nice sum of money for their end. The gross receipts amounted to $6,413.50. Morris, who fought for 20 per cent, drew down $1,628.90, while Willard, who battled for 25 per cent, received $1,603.25.

Since Johnny Dundee defeated Charley White at New Orleans he is receiving many offers. His manager, Scotty Montfith, accepted two more bouts for him to-day. His first will be with Johnny Griffiths of Akron, O., for ten rounds at Canton, O., on Dec. 16, and his second with Steve Ketchel, the Western lightweight, for ten rounds at Racine, Wis., Dec. 20.

Johnny Harvey, the promising local fighter, who recently gave Young Shugrue a good battle for ten rounds, was matched to-day for ten rounds at the Philadelphia fighter, for six rounds in the wind-up at the show of the National A. C. of Philadelphia on Saturday.

PINEHURST, N. C., Dec. 4.—Parker W. Whitmore of Brookline Country Club yesterday captured the trophy offered for the best qualification score with a card of 81. Play was on the No. 3 course. E. T. Manion of Framingham was second in 86. Tom Kelly of Southern Pines and C. L. Becker of Woodland, each had 88. Others who made the first division were: A. A. Stagg, Chicago, 90; C. B. Hudson, North York, 91; H. V. Fitzgerald, Englewood, 92; T. Moran, Metairie, La., 93; George F. Brown, Huntington Valley, 94; F. S. Pusey, Havana, 95; R. E. T. A. Cheatham, Salisbury, 96; S. A. Hennessy, Cooperstown, 97; P. L. Gallagher, Montclair, 100; Dr. J. S. Brown, Montclair, 100; H. S. Spaulding, Brae Burn, 100; F. D. Wilkerson, Youngstown, 101.

W. L. McKen, Indianapolis, lost in a tie play-off for the first division.

K. O. SWEENEY WINS FROM JACK REID.

WINTER, Mass., Dec. 4.—In one of the hottest ten-round bouts that has been fought here in some time Knock-out Sweeney of New York defeated Jack Reid of Australia before a large crowd of fight fans at the Lakeside A. C. last night. Reid took the lead in the first three rounds, but after that Sweeney punished him severely about the stomach and head. In the ninth round Sweeney floored Reid with a right hand swing on the jaw.

Clark Griffith has hopes that Acosta will turn out to be the slugger-out-fighter for whom he is looking. The little Cuban is playing ball with Alameda Havana team and is hitting the pill at a great rate. Against Brooklyn, touring Cuba, Acosta was the bright batting light.

George Mullin, the well-known American League pitcher and once the pride of the Detroit Tigers, is now an entry night. Robideau has fought many of the top-notch lightweights and Harvey will have to fight at his best to beat him.

Two boxing shows will be held to-night. At the Postman A. C. of Brooklyn Italian Joe Gans of Brooklyn tackles Frankie Gale up the main event of the evening. At the West Brighton A. C. of Staten Island, K. O. Delphino vs. Jack Brooks and Soldier Burns vs. Young Dobbs in ten round bouts.

Realizing that defeat in his ten-round bout with Battling Levinsky at the Atlantic Garden A. C. show on next Tuesday night will prevent him from setting on any more bouts at the local club, Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fireman heavyweight, training harder for this contest at Del Hawkins' roadhouse than for any other bout he has fought here so far.

Tom Jones and his big fighter, Jess Willard, left for Buffalo to-day, where Jess is matched to meet "Doc" Davis, the up-State heavyweight, in a ten-round bout before the Queensberry A. C. on Dec. 16. After this contest Jones and Willard will like to Los Angeles, Cal., where Willard will have to stand trial on Jan. 7 for the unfortunate death of Bull Young, who expired during a bout with him at Vernon, Cal., a few months ago.

Tommy Maloney and Young Hekey, the rugged light middleweights, have been secured to clash in the star bout of ten rounds at the Queensberry A. C. of Long Island City on Saturday night. Maloney has just returned from St. Louis, where he outpointed Young Denny of New Orleans in an eight-round bout.

Packey McFarland, who certainly gets his money easy by boxing both good and fairly good waterweights and lightweights in limited-round bouts, will receive a big payday for meeting Harry Trendall, the crack lightweight of St. Louis, for eight rounds at the Coliseum in the latter city.

Hughie Rodden, the featherweight of Scotland, who has been in this country a couple of years, during which time he has fought thirty times, is ready to take on, but instead of a baseball or a bat Mullin used for weapons a common garden variety of penholder and lead pencil and his list duties consisted of the adding of a column of interminable figures. "This is worse than putting in front of 30,000 people," was all the comment George made as he buckled down to work again.

In Washington it used to be considered a patriotic duty to buy stock in the baseball club. Recently a dividend of 20 per cent. was declared and stockholders have become convinced that the electric lights were turned on.

"Dots" Miller of the Pittsburgh Pirates is the latest big leaguer to take up golf. Like Charlie Mathewson, "Chief" Bender, Johnnie "Hacker" Engel and Joe Wood, "Dots" says that golf is the greatest recreation for a ball player.

Rudy Hulsitt will arrive here on Saturday at the request of the owners of the Jersey City club to sign up as manager of that team. Terms have been practically agreed on.

Soccer eleven representing Morris High School and the High School of Commerce met at Van Cortlandt Park yesterday afternoon and played until the electric lights were turned on.

After a scoreless first half, Morris High won out by the score of 2 goals to 0.

Harvard Only Eastern Eleven That Won Every Game on Its Schedule

Some of the Minor Colleges Did Well, Notably Washington and Jefferson, Whose Record Was Only Marred by a Scoreless Tie With Yale.

Harvard won the Eastern football championship during the season just closed beyond any question of doubt. Harvard was the only team in this section that won every one of its games. Harvard played nine games and the closest rub given was by Princeton, whom she beat 3 to 0.

Only twenty-one points were scored on Harvard during the season, and of these Williams scored three, Holy Cross seven, Cornell six and Yale five.

The Tigers didn't have any more points scored on them than Harvard, but they were beaten by Dartmouth, 6 to 0; Harvard, 3 to 0, and were tied by Yale, 3 to 3. Moreover, Rutgers scored three points on them, and Bucknell six.

The entire tally against them was twenty-one points the same as Harvard's.

Although some of the so-called minor colleges didn't play schedules anywhere near as strong as the major teams, still some of them made much better records. For instance Washington and Jefferson were the only other of the twenty-one minor eastern colleges that didn't lose a game. Their nearest approach to defeat was when Yale played a scoreless tie with them.

TUFTS ONLY BEATEN BY THE WEST POINT TEAM.

The Tufts team of Medford, Mass., was another college that made a remarkable showing, only losing one game—that to the Army by the safety margin of 10 to 0.

Dartmouth only lost one game, that to the Army by the safety margin of 10 to 0.

The Arion Harvard Club will stage the fifth game for the Interstate Challenge Cup at the Arion clubhouse, Fifty-ninth street and Park avenue, on Dec. 11. The contestants are Dr. L. L. Maloney, one of the best known amateur players of the United States, and J. E. Cope Morton of the Union League of Philadelphia, present holder of the Metropolitan Challenge Cup of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players.

In the weekly invitation run of the Winton A. C. last night over the club's three and a half mile course M. Greenberg and the Reliance A. C. finished first, with J. Williams, unattached, taking second place. The first ten to finish were: M. Greenberg, Reliance A. C.; J. Williams, unattached; J. Boylan, Winton A. C.; B. Brooks, unattached; H. Stein, Morningstar; L. Schlessinger, St. Mary's; A. Stone, St. Mary's; J. Cohen, St. Mary's; D. Taylor, Mohawk A. C.; A. Briggs, St. Vincent Ferrer.

The field of riders entered in the twenty-first annual international six-day bicycle race next week has finally been completed. Seventeen teams are to go to the post. The full list of teams and their nationalities are as follows: Jackie Clark and Patrick O'Sullivan, Ireland; Gordon Walker and Ernie Pyle, Australia; Alfred Grenda, Australian, and Jimmie Moran, Ireland; Reggie McManara, Australian, and Eddie McManara, Australian; W. L. Mitter and Lloyd Thomas, Americans; Fred Hill and Martin "Grassy" Ryan, Americans; Norman Hansen and Norman Anderson, Denmark; Clarence Carman and George Cameron, Americans; Bobby Walthour and Elmer Collins, Americans; Frank Corry, Australian, and John Bedell, American; W. L. Mitter and Lloyd Thomas, Americans; Fred J. O'Keefe, Ireland, and Joseph Kopsky, Hungarian; Willie Appenhaus and Herman Packebusch, German.
